President's Corner

Dear Friends and Sts. Peter & Paul Historical Foundation Family,
Busy, busy, busy – that's the way it's been around our chapel lately. There's always something going on, but when it is auction time we switch into high gear. Since we had to cancel last year, this year feels like we are starting all over.

We have a few weddings going on and have a few new helpers with that. Mark Pisarik is mowing the lawn and Tom Brown mows the bottom area and bales it for hay. It is such a small area – more work than worth, but we do appreciate Tom's work.

There are so many generous businesses and volunteers that help make this auction a success. We are very thankful to one and all.

A lot of work and planning goes into this event too. The Mike Rice family – grilling the loins the helpers in the kitchen making sure everyone is fed in a couple of hours. No one should go away hungry.

Then we have the Kolache Corner with dozens of kolaches and other goodies there's a sweet treat for everyone. Leona Smith is the lead who organizes the area and bakes lots of kolaches. Thanks to all the bakers who spend hours preparing these yummy items.

Upstairs is also very busy with the silent auction. Baskets, filled to the brim, are arranged along the outer aisles. The bidding starts out slowly but gets fast and furious by the end at 1 pm. Thanks to the crew who puts together the baskets and works the area.

Carol Woods Boren and Derek Boren line up the auction items. It's a job not many folks enjoy or appreciate. But when Brent Wears and his group come on the scene, all goes very well. We don't want to forget the quilt raffle. Mary Holubar has put together a beautiful quilt that is now making its way to the local banks for display and ticket sales. The 'Cookie Jar' game is always fun for the $100 winner and provides a delicious treat at a later date for the other participants.

No matter what you bid on, buy or win there's usually a fun story that's told for years to come.

I'm sorry to say we miss a few loved ones each year and this year we will celebrate the life of Lizzy Kroul. She always enjoyed this Auction day and this year you will hear a new electronic keyboard playing. The keyboard was donated in her memory by friends and family. There are a few more memorials that will be decided on in the near future. The board wants them to be spent meaningfully and in ways that are needed.

Hope to see you at the Auction this year on Sunday, Sept. 19th. This will be a joyous event with much visiting, eating and many more memories for us all.

Sincerely,

Sts. Peter & Paul Historical Foundation President
